- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one unit of credit for successful completion of this course.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In ~~this course~~ United States History Studies Since 1877, which is the second part of a two-year study ~~of U.S. history~~ that begins in Grade 8, students study the history of the United States ~~since from Reconstruction 1877~~ to the present. The course content is based on the founding documents of the U.S. government, which provide a framework for its heritage. Historical content focuses on the political, economic, and social events and issues related to industrialization and urbanization, major wars, domestic and foreign policies ~~of the Cold War and post-Cold War eras~~, and reform movements, including civil rights. Students examine the impact of geographic factors on major events and eras and analyze their causes and effects ~~of the Great Depression~~. Students examine the impact of constitutional issues on American society, evaluate the dynamic relationship of the three branches of the federal government, and analyze efforts to expand the democratic process. Students describe the relationship between the arts and popular culture and the times during which they were created. Students analyze the impact of technological innovations on ~~the~~ American life labor movement. Students use critical-thinking skills and a variety of primary and secondary source material to explain and apply different methods that historians use to understand and interpret the past, including multiple points of view and historical context.
 - (2) To support the teaching of the essential knowledge and skills, the use of a variety of rich primary and secondary source material such as biographies, ~~and~~ autobiographies, ~~;~~ landmark cases of the U.S. Supreme Court, ~~;~~ novels, ~~;~~ speeches, letters, diaries, ~~;~~ ~~and~~ poetry, songs, and artworks is encouraged. ~~Selections may include a biography of Dwight Eisenhower, Upton Sinclair's The Jungle, and Martin Luther King's letter from the Birmingham City Jail.~~ Motivating resources are ~~also~~ available from museums, historical sites, presidential libraries, and local and state preservation societies.
 - (3) The eight strands of the essential knowledge and skills for social studies are intended to be integrated for instructional purposes ~~with the history and geography strands establishing a sense of time and a sense of place~~. Skills listed in the ~~geography and social studies skills strands~~ in subsection (c) of this section should be incorporated into the teaching of all essential knowledge and skills for social studies. A greater depth of understanding of complex content material can be attained when integrated social studies content from the various disciplines and critical-thinking skills are taught together. Statements that contain the word "including" reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase "such as" are intended as possible illustrative examples.

(4) Students identify the role of the U.S. free enterprise system within the parameters of this course and understand that this system may also be references as capitalism or the free market system.

(4)(5) Throughout social studies in Kindergarten-Grade 12, students build a foundation in history; geography; economics; government; citizenship; culture; science, technology, and society; and social studies skills. The content, as appropriate for the grade level or course, enables students to understand the importance of patriotism, function in a free enterprise society, and appreciate the basic democratic values of our state and nation as referenced in the Texas Education Code (TEC), §28.002(h).

(5)(6) State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances including Celebrate Freedom Week.

(A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under the TEC, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women's suffrage movement.

(B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed."

§113.3342. World History Studies (One Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one unit of credit for successful completion of this course.
- (b) Introduction.
- (1) World History Studies is ~~the only course offering students an overview~~ a survey of the ~~entire~~ history of humankind. Due to the expanse of world history and the time limitations of the school year, the scope of this course should focus on “essential” concepts and skills that can be applied to various eras, events, and people within the standards in subsection (c) of this section. The major emphasis is on the study of significant people, events, and issues from the earliest times to the present. Traditional historical points of reference in world history are identified as students analyze important events and issues in western civilization as well as in civilizations in other parts of the world. Students evaluate the causes and effects of political and economic imperialism and of major political revolutions since the 17th century. Students examine the impact of geographic factors on major historic events and identify the historic origins of contemporary economic systems. Students analyze the process by which ~~democratic-republican~~ constitutional governments evolved as well as the ideas from historic documents that influenced that process. Students trace the historical development of important legal and political concepts. Students examine the history and impact of major religious and philosophical traditions. Students analyze the connections between major developments in science and technology and the growth of industrial economies, and they use the process of historical inquiry to research, interpret, and use multiple sources of evidence.
- (2) The following periodization should serve as the framework for the organization of this course: 8000 BC BCE -500 BC BCE (Development of River Valley Civilizations); 500 BC BCE -AD 600 CE (Classical Era); 600-1450 (Post-classical Era); 1450-1750 (Connecting Hemispheres); 1750-1914 (Age of Revolutions); and 1914-present (20th Century to the Present). Specific events and processes may transcend these chronological boundaries.
- ~~(2)~~(3) To support the teaching of the essential knowledge and skills, the use of a variety of rich primary and secondary source material such as state papers, legal documents, charters, constitutions, biographies, ~~and~~ autobiographies, ~~novels;~~ speeches, ~~and~~ letters, ~~and poetry literature, songs, music, art, and architecture and artworks~~ is encouraged. ~~Selections may include excerpts from Hammurabi's Code.~~ Motivating resources are ~~also~~ available from museums, art galleries, and historical sites.
- ~~(3)~~(4) The eight strands of the essential knowledge and skills for social studies are intended to be integrated for instructional purposes ~~with the history and geography strands establishing a sense of time and a sense of place.~~ Skills listed in the ~~geography and social studies skills strands~~ in subsection (c) of this section should be incorporated into the teaching of all essential knowledge and skills for social studies. ~~A greater depth of understanding of complex content material can be attained when integrated social studies content from the various disciplines and critical thinking skills are taught together.~~
- (5) A greater depth of understanding of complex content material can be obtained by integrating social studies content and skills and by analyzing connections between and among historical periods and events. The list of events and people in this course curriculum should not be considered exhaustive. Additional examples can and should be incorporated. Statements that contain the word “including” reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase “such as” are intended as possible illustrative examples.

(6) Students identify the role of the U.S. free enterprise system within the parameters of this course and understand that this system may also be referenced as capitalism or the free market system.

~~(4)(6)(7)~~ Throughout social studies in Kindergarten-Grade 12, students build a foundation in history; geography; economics; government; citizenship; culture; science, technology, and society; and social studies skills. The content, as appropriate for the grade level or course, enables students to understand the importance of patriotism, function in a free enterprise society, and appreciate the basic democratic values of our state and nation, as referenced in the Texas Education Code (TEC), §28.002(h).

~~(7)(8)~~ State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances, including Celebrate Freedom Week.

(A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under TEC, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women's suffrage movement.

(B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed."

~~(C) analyze how ideas such as Judeo-Christian ethics and the rise of secularism and individualism in Western civilization, beginning with the Enlightenment, have influenced institutions and societies;~~

(C) explain the relationship among Christianity, individualism, and growing secularism that began with the Renaissance and how the relationship influenced subsequent political developments; and

(D) explain how Islam influences law and government in the Muslim world.

(26) Culture. The student understands the relationship between the arts and the times during which they were created. The student is expected to:

(A) identify significant examples of art and architecture that demonstrate an artistic ideal or visual principle from selected cultures;

(B) analyze examples of how art, architecture, literature, music, and drama reflect the history of the cultures in which they are produced; and

(C) identify examples of art, music, and literature that transcend the cultures in which they were created and convey universal themes.

~~(23)(25)(27)~~ Science, technology, and society. The student understands how major scientific and mathematical discoveries and technological innovations ~~have~~ affected societies ~~throughout history~~ prior to 1750. The student is expected to:

~~(A) give examples of major mathematical and scientific discoveries and technological innovations that occurred at different periods in history and describe the changes produced by these discoveries and innovations;~~

~~(B)~~(A) identify the origin and diffusion of major new ideas in mathematics, science, and technology that occurred during the Greco-Roman, Indian, Islamic, and Chinese civilizations in river valley civilizations, classical Greece and Rome, classical India, the Islamic caliphates between 700 and 1200, and in China from the Tang to Ming dynasties and trace the spread of these ideas to other civilizations;

~~(C)~~(B) summarize the major ideas in astronomy, mathematics, and architectural engineering that developed in Mesoamerica and Andean South America; the Maya, Inca, and Aztec civilizations;

(C) explain the impact of the printing press on the Renaissance and the Reformation in Europe; and

(D) describe the origins of the Scientific Revolution in 16th-century Europe and explain its impact on scientific thinking worldwide; and

(E) identify the contributions of significant scientists such as Archimedes, Copernicus, Erastosthenes, Galileo, and Pythagoras.

~~(24)(26)(28)~~ Science, technology, and society. The student understands ~~connections between major developments in science and technology and the growth of industrial economies and societies in the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries~~ how major scientific and mathematical discoveries and technological innovations have affected societies from 1750 to the present. The student is expected to:

- (A) explain the ~~causes of industrialization and evaluate both short-term and long-term impact on societies~~ role of textile manufacturing and steam technology in initiating the Industrial Revolution and the role of the factory system and transportation technology in advancing the Industrial Revolution;
- ~~(B) describe the connection between scientific discoveries and technological innovations and new patterns of social and cultural life in the 20th century, such as developments in transportation and communication that affected social mobility; and~~
- (B) explain the roles of military technology, transportation technology, communication technology, and medical advancements in initiating and advancing 19th century imperialism;
- (C) explain the effects of major new military technologies on World War I, World War II, and the Cold War; ~~and~~
- (D) explain the roles of telecommunication technology, computer technology, transportation technology, and medical advancements in developing the modern global economy and society ; ~~and~~
- ~~(G)~~(E) identify the contributions of significant scientists and inventors such as Robert Boyle, Marie Curie, Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein, ~~Robert Fulton~~, Sir Isaac Newton, Louis Pasteur, and James Watt.

~~(25)~~~~(27)~~(29) Social studies skills. The student applies critical-thinking skills to organize and use information acquired from a variety of valid sources, including electronic technology. The student is expected to:

- (A) identify ~~ways~~ methods used by archaeologists, anthropologists, historians, and geographers to analyze ~~limited~~ evidence;
- ~~(B) locate and use primary and secondary sources such as computer software, databases, media and news services, biographies, interviews, and artifacts to acquire information;~~
- ~~(D)~~(B) explain ~~and apply different methods that~~ how historians, when examining use to interpret the past, including the use of primary and secondary sources, points of view, analyze frames of reference, and historical context, and point of view to interpret historical events;
- (C) explain the differences between primary and secondary sources and examine those sources to analyze frame of reference, historical context, and point of view;
- ~~(F)~~(D) evaluate the validity of a source based on language, corroboration with other sources, and information about the author;
- ~~(E) use the process of historical inquiry to research, interpret, and use multiple sources of evidence;~~
- ~~(G)~~(E) identify bias in written, oral, and visual material;
- ~~(G)~~(F) analyze information by sequencing, categorizing, identifying cause-and-effect relationships, comparing, contrasting, finding the main idea, summarizing, making generalizations and predictions, ~~and~~ drawing inferences and conclusions, and developing connections between historical events over time;

~~(H)~~(G) construct a thesis on a social studies issue or event supported by evidence support a point of view; and

~~(H)~~(H) use appropriate reading and mathematical skills to interpret social studies information such as maps and graphs.

~~(26)~~~~(28)~~(30) Social studies skills. The student communicates in written, oral, and visual forms. The student is expected to:

- (A) use social studies terminology correctly;
- (B) use standard grammar, spelling, sentence structure, and punctuation;
- (C) interpret and create ~~databases, research outlines, bibliographies, and visuals including graphs, charts, timelines, and maps; and~~ written, oral, and visual presentations of social studies information; and
- (D) transfer information from one medium to another ~~including written to visual and statistical to written or visual, using computer software as appropriate.~~

~~(27)~~~~(29)~~(31) Social studies skills. The student uses problem-solving and decision-making skills, working independently and with others, in a variety of settings. The student is expected to:

- (A) use a problem-solving process to identify a problem, gather information, list and consider options, consider advantages and disadvantages, choose and implement a solution, and evaluate the effectiveness of the solution; and
- (B) use a decision-making process to identify a situation that requires a decision, gather information, identify options, predict consequences, and take action to implement a decision.

§113.3443. World Geography Studies (One Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one unit of credit for successful completion of this course.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In World Geography Studies, students examine people, places, and environments at local, regional, national, and international scales from the spatial and ecological perspectives of geography. Students describe the influence of geography on events of the past and present with emphasis on contemporary issues. A significant portion of the course centers around the physical processes that shape patterns in the physical environment; the characteristics of major ~~land forms~~ landforms, climates, and ecosystems and their interrelationships; the political, economic, and social processes that shape cultural patterns of regions; types and patterns of settlement; the distribution and movement of the world population; relationships among people, places, and environments; and the concept of region. Students analyze how location affects economic activities in different economic systems ~~throughout the world~~. Students identify the processes that influence political divisions of the planet and analyze how different points of view affect the development of public policies. Students compare how components of culture shape the characteristics of regions and analyze the impact of technology and human modifications on the physical environment. Students use problem-solving and decision-making skills to ask and answer geographic questions.
 - (2) To support the teaching of the essential knowledge and skills, the use of a variety of rich primary and secondary source material such as contemporary and historic maps of various types, satellite-produced images, photographs, graphs, map sketches, and diagrams is encouraged.
 - (3) The eight strands of the essential knowledge and skills for social studies are intended to be integrated for instructional purposes. Skills listed in the ~~geography and~~ social studies skills strands in subsection (c) of this section should be incorporated into the teaching of all essential knowledge and skills for social studies. A greater depth of understanding of complex content material can be attained when integrated social studies content from the various disciplines and critical-thinking skills are taught together. Statements that contain the word “including” reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase “such as” are intended as possible illustrative examples.
 - (4) Students identify the role of the U.S. free enterprise system within the parameters of this course and understand that this system may also be referenced as capitalism or the free market system.
 - ~~(4)~~(5) Throughout social studies in Kindergarten-Grade 12, students build a foundation in history; geography; economics; government; citizenship; culture; science, technology, and society; and social studies skills. The content, as appropriate for the grade level or course, enables students to understand the importance of patriotism, function in a free enterprise society, and appreciate the basic democratic values of our state and nation as referenced in the Texas Education Code (TEC), §28.002(h).
 - ~~(5)~~(6) State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances, including Celebrate Freedom Week.

- (A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under the TEC, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women's suffrage movement.
- (B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: “We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed.”

(c) Knowledge and skills.

- (1) History. The student understands how ~~geographic contexts (the geography of places in the past)~~ and processes of spatial exchange (diffusion) influenced events in the past and helped to shape the present. The student is expected to:
- (A) analyze the effects of physical and human geographic patterns and processes on ~~events in~~ the past and describe their impact on the present ~~effects on present conditions~~, including significant physical features and environmental conditions that influenced migration patterns ~~in the past~~ and shaped the distribution of culture groups today; and
- (B) trace the spatial diffusion of ~~a phenomenon~~ phenomena such as the Columbian Exchange or the diffusion of American popular culture and describe ~~its~~ the effects on regions of contact ~~such as the spread of bubonic plague, the diffusion and exchange of foods between the New and Old Worlds, or the diffusion of American slang.~~
- (2) History. The student understands how people, places, and environments have changed over time and the effects of these changes ~~on history~~. The student is expected to:
- (A) describe the human and physical characteristics of the same ~~place at different periods of history~~ regions at different periods of time to evaluate relationships between past events and current conditions; and
- (B) ~~assess how people's changing perceptions of geographic features have led to changes in human societies~~ explain how changes in societies have led to diverse uses of physical features.
- (3) Geography. ~~Such as~~ The student understands how physical processes shape patterns in the physical environment (~~lithosphere, atmosphere, hydrosphere, and biosphere~~); ~~including how Earth-Sun relationships affect physical processes and patterns on Earth's surface.~~ The student is expected to:

- (A) explain weather conditions and climate in relation ~~attribute occurrences of weather phenomena and climate~~ to annual changes in Earth-Sun relationships; and
 - (B) describe ~~physical environment of regions and~~ the physical processes that affect ~~these regions such as~~ the environments of regions, including weather, tectonic forces, erosion, ~~wave action, freezing and thawing, gravity~~, and soil-building processes; and
 - (C) examine the physical processes that affect the lithosphere, atmosphere, hydrosphere, and biosphere.
- (4) Geography. The student understands the patterns and characteristics of major landforms, climates, and ecosystems of Earth and the interrelated processes that produce them. The student is expected to:
- (A) explain ~~the distribution of different types of climate in terms of patterns of temperature, wind, and precipitation and the factors that influence climate regions such as~~ how elevation, latitude, wind systems, ~~location near warm and cold~~ ocean currents, position on a continent, and mountain barriers influence temperature, precipitation, and distribution of climate regions;
 - (B) describe different landforms and ~~relate~~ the physical processes that cause their development ~~to the development of distinctive land forms~~; and
 - (C) explain the influence of climate on the distribution of biomes ~~plants and animals~~ in different regions ~~of the world using the relationships among climate, vegetation, soil, and geology.~~
- (5) Geography. The student understands how political, economic, and social processes shape cultural patterns and characteristics in various places and regions. The student is expected to:
- (A) analyze how the character of a place is related to its political, economic, social, and cultural ~~characteristics~~ elements; and
 - (B) interpret ~~analyze~~ political, economic, social, and demographic ~~data~~ indicators (gross domestic product per capita, life expectancy, literacy, and infant mortality) to determine the level of development and standard of living in nations using the terms Human Development Index, less developed, newly industrialized, and more developed.
- (6) Geography. The student understands the types, ~~and~~ patterns, and processes of settlement, ~~the factors that affect where people settle, and processes of settlement development over time.~~ The student is expected to:
- (A) locate and describe human and physical features that influence ~~settlements and observe patterns in~~ the size and distribution of settlements ~~cities using maps, graphics, and other information~~; and
 - (B) explain the processes that have caused changes in settlement patterns, including urbanization, transportation, access to and ~~cities to grow such as location along transportation routes~~, availability of resources, ~~that have attracted settlers and economic activities, and continued access to other cities and resources.~~

- (7) Geography. The student understands the growth, distribution, movement, and characteristics of world population. The student is expected to:
- (A) construct and analyze population pyramids and use other data, graphics, and maps to describe the population characteristics of different societies and to predict future ~~growth~~ population trends;
 - (B) explain how ~~the~~ political, economic, social, and environmental push and pull factors ~~that contribute to human migration such as how national and international migrations are shaped by push and pull factors and how~~ and physical geography affects the routes, ~~and~~ flows, ~~and destinations~~ of human migration;
 - (C) describe trends in ~~past~~ world population growth and distribution; and
 - ~~(D) —develop and defend hypotheses on likely population patterns for the future.~~
 - (D) examine benefits and challenges of globalization, including connectivity, standard of living, pandemics, and loss of local culture.
- (8) Geography. The student understands how people, places, and environments are connected and interdependent. The student is expected to:
- ~~(A) —explain the interrelationships among physical and human processes that shape the geographic characteristics of places such as connections among economic development, urbanization, population growth, and environmental change;~~
 - ~~(B)~~ (A) compare ways that humans depend on, adapt to, and modify the physical environment, including the influences of culture and technology using local, state, national, and international human activities in a variety of cultural and technological contexts;
 - ~~(C)~~ (B) describe the interaction between humans and the physical environment and analyze the consequences of extreme weather and other natural disasters ~~impact of and analyze the reaction of the environment to abnormal and/or hazardous environmental conditions at different scales~~ such as El Niño, floods, ~~droughts, and hurricanes~~ tsunamis, and volcanoes; and
 - (C) evaluate the economic and political relationships between settlements and the environment, including sustainable development and renewable/non-renewable resources.
 - ~~(D) —analyze statistical and other data to infer the effects of physical and human processes on patterns of settlement, population distribution, economic and political conditions, and resource distribution.~~
- (9) Geography. The student understands the concept of region as an area of Earth's surface with related ~~unifying~~ geographic characteristics. The student is expected to:
- (A) identify physical and/or human factors such as ~~soils~~, climate, vegetation, language, trade networks, political units, river systems, and religion that constitute a region; and
 - (B) describe different types of regions, including ~~identify the differences among~~ formal, functional, and perceptual regions.
- (10) Economics. The student understands the distribution, and characteristics, and interactions of the economic systems ~~throughout~~ in the world. The student is expected to:

- (A) describe the ~~characteristics of traditional, command, and market economies;~~ forces that determine the distribution of goods and services in free-enterprise (capitalist, free market) , socialist, and communist economic systems;
 - ~~(B) explain how traditional, command, and market economies operate in specific countries; and~~
 - ~~(B) classify where specific countries fall along the economic spectrum between free enterprise (capitalism, free market) and communism;~~
 - (C) compare the ways people satisfy their basic needs through the production of goods and services such as subsistence agriculture versus ~~market-oriented commercial~~ agriculture or cottage industries versus commercial industries; and
 - ~~(D) compare global trade patterns over time and examine the implications of globalization, including outsourcing and free trade zones.~~
- (11) Economics. The student understands ~~the reasons for the location of~~ how geography influences economic activities ~~(primary, secondary, tertiary, and quaternary) in different economic systems.~~ The student is expected to:
- ~~(A) map the locations of different types of economic activities;~~
 - ~~(A) understand the connections between levels of development and economic activities (primary, secondary, tertiary and quaternary);~~
 - (B) examine ~~identify~~ factors affecting the location of different types of economic activities, including subsistence, natural resources, manufacturing, agriculture, services, and cottage industry; and
 - (C) assess ~~describe~~ how changes in climate, resources, and infrastructure (technology, transportation, and communication) affect the location and patterns of economic activities.
- (12) Economics. The student understands the economic importance of, and issues related to, the location and management of ~~key-natural~~ resources. The student is expected to:
- ~~(A) compare global trade patterns at different periods of time and develop hypotheses to explain changes that have occurred in world trade and the implications of these changes;~~
 - ~~(B)~~(A) analyze how the creation, ~~and~~ distribution, and management of key natural resources affects the location and patterns of movement of products, ~~capital money~~, and people; and
 - ~~(C)~~(B) evaluate the geographic and economic impact of policies related to the development, use, and scarcity of natural resources such as regulations of ~~for~~ water ~~use or policies related to the development of scarce natural resources.~~
- (13) Government. The student understands the spatial characteristics of a variety of global political units. The student is expected to:
- (A) interpret ~~prepare~~ maps ~~that illustrate a variety of~~ to explain the division of land, including man-made and natural borders, into separate political units ~~entities~~ such as ~~city cities, maps showing precincts, country maps showing~~ states, or ~~continental maps showing~~ countries; and

- (B) compare maps of voting patterns or political boundaries to make inferences about the distribution of political power.
- (14) Government. The student understands the geographic processes that influence political divisions, relationships, and policies. The student is expected to:
- (A) analyze current events to infer the physical and human processes that lead to the formation of boundaries and other political divisions;
- ~~(B) explain how forces of conflict and cooperation influence the allocation of control of Earth's surface such as the formation of congressional voting districts or free trade zones; and~~
- (B) compare how democracy, dictatorship, monarchy, republic, theocracy, and totalitarian systems operate in specific countries; and
- (C) analyze ~~explain~~ the geographic human and physical factors that influence a nation's the power to control territory, create conflict/war, and that shape the foreign policies and impact international political relations ~~of selected nations~~ such as ~~Iraq, Israel, Japan, and the United Kingdom~~ Nations (UN), the European Union (EU), or the control of resources.
- (15) Citizenship. The student understands how geography affects different points of view ~~on~~ influence the development of public ~~issues and~~ policies and decision-making processes on local, state, national, and international levels. The student is expected to:
- (A) identify and give examples of different points of view that influence the development of public policies and decision-making processes on local, state, national, and international levels; and
- ~~(A) compare the effects of different social, economic, and political points of view about public issues and policies; and~~
- (B) explain how citizenship practices, public policies, and decision making may be influenced by cultural beliefs, including nationalism and patriotism. ~~; and~~
- ~~(C) compare different points of view on geographic issues.~~
- (16) Culture. The student understands how the components of culture affect the way people live and shape the characteristics of regions. The student is expected to:
- (A) describe ~~distinctive cultural patterns and landscapes associated with different places in Texas, the United States, and other regions of the world, and how these patterns influenced the processes of~~ how physical geography, human adaption, and technology influence culture and impact innovation and diffusion;
- (B) describe elements of culture, including entertainment, food, language, religion, recreation, and fashion;
- ~~(B)~~(C) explain ~~give examples of~~ ways various groups of people perceive the characteristics of their own and other ~~view~~ cultures, places, and regions differently; and

- ~~(C)~~(D) compare life in a variety of urban and rural areas ~~cities and nations~~ in the world to evaluate ~~the relationships involved in~~ political, economic, social, and environmental changes.
- (17) Culture. The student understands the distribution, patterns, and characteristics of different cultures. The student is expected to:
- (A) describe and compare patterns of culture such as language, religion, land use, ~~systems of~~ education, and customs that make specific regions of the world distinctive; ~~and~~
 - ~~(B)~~ describe ~~compare~~ major world religions, including animism, Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, and Sikhism, and their spatial distribution;
 - ~~(B)~~(C) compare economic, political, or social opportunities in different cultures for women, ethnic and religious minorities, and other underrepresented populations; ~~and in selected regions of the world.~~
 - ~~(D)~~ evaluate the experiences and contributions of diverse groups to multicultural societies.
- (18) Culture. The student understands the ways in which cultures change and maintain continuity. The student is expected to:
- (A) analyze cultural changes in specific regions caused by ~~describe the impact of general processes such as~~ migration, war, trade, ~~independent inventions, innovations,~~ and diffusion ~~of ideas and motivations on cultural change;~~
 - ~~(B) —analyze cultural changes in specific regions;~~
 - ~~(B)~~ assess causes, effects, and perceptions of conflicts between groups of people, including modern genocides and terrorism;
 - (C) identify ~~analyze~~ examples of cultures that maintain traditional ways, including traditional economies; and
 - (D) evaluate ~~case studies of~~ the spread of cultural traits to find examples of cultural convergence and divergence such as the spread of democratic ideas, U.S.-based fast-food franchises, ~~in Russia and Eastern Europe, or~~ the English language, technology, or global sports as a major medium of international communication for scientists and business people.
- (19) Science, technology, and society. The student understands the impact of technology and human modifications on the physical environment. The student is expected to:
- (A) evaluate the significance of major technological innovations, ~~including fire, steam power, diesel machinery, and electricity~~ in the areas of transportation and energy that have been used to modify the physical environment; ~~and~~
 - (B) analyze ways technological innovations have allowed humans to adapt to places such as air conditioning and desalinization; ~~and shaped by physical processes such as floods, earthquakes, and hurricanes.~~
 - ~~(C)~~ examine the environmental, economic, and social impacts of advances in technology on agriculture and natural resources.

- (20) Science, technology, and society. The student understands how current technology affects human interaction ~~definitions of, access to, and use of resources~~. The student is expected to:
- (A) describe the impact of new information technologies, ~~new markets, and revised perceptions of resources~~ such as the Internet, Global Positioning System (GPS), or Geography Information Systems (GIS); and
 - ~~(B) analyze the role of technology in agriculture and other primary economic activities and identify the environmental consequences of the changes that have taken place.~~
 - (B) examine the economic, environmental, and social effects of technology such as medical advancements or changing trade patterns on societies at different levels of development.
- (21) Social studies skills. The student applies critical-thinking skills to organize and use information acquired from a variety of valid sources, including electronic technology. The student is expected to:
- (A) interpret reference and thematic maps using map elements, including latitude and longitude, to determine absolute location;
 - ~~(A)(B)~~ use historical, geographic, and statistical information from a variety of sources such as databases, (graphs and charts), photographs, GIS, field interviews, and media services, ~~and questionnaires to answer geographic questions and to~~ infer geographic relationships and solve geographic problems;
 - ~~(B)(C)~~ ~~analyze and~~ evaluate the context, bias, validity, and utility of a variety of multiple sources of geographic information such as primary and secondary sources, ~~aerial photographs, and maps;~~
 - ~~(D)~~ ~~apply basic statistical concepts and analytical methods such as computer-based spreadsheets and statistical software to analyze geographic data; and~~
 - (D) locate places of contemporary geopolitical significance on a map; and
 - ~~(E) use a series of maps, including a computer-based geographic information system, to obtain and analyze data needed to solve geographic and locational problems.~~
 - ~~(C)(E)~~ create ~~construct~~ and interpret different types of maps to answer geographic questions, infer ~~geographic~~ relationships, and analyze ~~geographic~~ change;.
- (22) Social studies skills. The student communicates in written, oral, and visual forms. The student is expected to:
- (A) design and draw appropriate ~~maps and other~~ graphics such as ~~sketch~~ maps, diagrams, tables, and graphs to communicate ~~present~~ geographic ~~information including geographic~~ features, ~~geographic~~ distributions, and ~~geographic~~ relationships;
 - ~~(B) apply appropriate vocabulary, geographic models, generalizations, theories, and skills to present geographic information;~~
 - (B) generate summaries, generalizations, and thesis statements supported by evidence;

- (C) use geographic terminology correctly; ~~and~~
 - (D) use standard grammar, spelling, sentence structure, and punctuation; ~~and~~
 - (E) create original work using proper citations and understanding and avoiding plagiarism.
- (23) Social studies skills. The student uses problem-solving and decision-making skills, working independently and with others, in a variety of settings. The student is expected to:
- (A) plan, organize, and complete a ~~group~~ research project that involves asking geographic questions; acquiring, organizing, and analyzing ~~geographic~~ information; answering ~~geographic~~ questions; and communicating results;
 - (B) use case studies and ~~GIS geographic information systems~~ to identify contemporary challenges ~~geographic problems and issues and to apply geographic knowledge and skills~~ and to answer real-world questions; and
 - (C) use ~~a~~ problem-solving and decision-making processes es to identify a problem, gather information, list and consider options, consider advantages and disadvantages, choose and implement a solution, and evaluate the effectiveness of the solution; ~~and~~
 - ~~(D) use a decision-making process to identify a situation that requires a decision, gather information, identify options, predict consequences, and take action to implement a decision.~~

§113.3544. United States Government (One-Half Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one-half unit of credit for successful completion of this course.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In United States Government, the focus is on the principles and beliefs upon which the United States was founded and on the structure, functions, and powers of government at the national, state, and local levels. This course is the culmination of the civic and governmental content and concepts studied from Kindergarten through required secondary courses. Students learn major political ideas and forms of government in history. A significant focus of the course is on the U.S. Constitution, its underlying principles and ideas, and the form of government it created. Students analyze major concepts of republicanism, federalism, checks and balances, separation of powers, popular sovereignty, and individual rights and compare the U.S. system of government with other political systems. Students identify the role of government in the U.S. free enterprise system and examine the strategic importance of places to the United States. Students analyze the impact of individuals, political parties, interest groups, and the media on the American political system, evaluate the importance of voluntary individual participation in a constitutional democratic republic society, and analyze the rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution. Students examine the relationship between governmental policies and the culture of the United States. Students identify examples of government policies that encourage scientific research and use critical-thinking skills to create a product on a contemporary government issue.
 - (2) To support the teaching of the essential knowledge and skills, the use of a variety of rich primary and secondary source material such as the complete text of the U.S. Constitution; selected Federalist Papers; landmark cases of the U.S. Supreme Court; (such as those studied in grade 8 and U.S. History Since 1877), biographies, autobiographies, ~~and~~ memoirs; speeches, ~~and~~ letters; and periodicals that feature analyses of political issues and events is encouraged. ~~Selections may include excerpts from John Locke's "Two Treatises of Government," Federalist 51, and Miranda v. Arizona.~~
 - (3) The eight strands of the essential knowledge and skills for social studies are intended to be integrated for instructional purposes. Skills listed in the ~~geography and~~ social studies skills strands in subsection (c) of this section should be incorporated into the teaching of all essential knowledge and skills for social studies. A greater depth of understanding of complex content material can be attained when integrated social studies content from the various disciplines and critical-thinking skills are taught together. Statements that contain the word "including" reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase "such as" are intended as possible illustrative examples.
 - (4) Students identify the role of the U.S. free enterprise system within the parameters of this course and understand that this system may also be referenced as capitalism or the free market system.
 - ~~(4)~~(5) Throughout social studies in Kindergarten-Grade 12, students build a foundation in history; geography; economics; government; citizenship; culture; science, technology, and society; and social studies skills. The content, as appropriate for the grade level or course, enables students to understand the importance of patriotism, function in a free enterprise society, and appreciate the basic democratic values of our state and nation as referenced in the Texas Education Code (TEC), §28.002(h).

~~(5)~~(6) State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances, including Celebrate Freedom Week.

- (A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under TEC, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women's suffrage movement.
- (B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed."

(c) Knowledge and skills.

~~(1) History. The student understands major political ideas and forms of government in history. The student is expected to:~~

- ~~(A) explain major political ideas in history such as natural law, natural rights, divine right of kings, and social contract theory; and~~
- ~~(B) identify the characteristics of classic forms of government such as absolute monarchy, authoritarianism, classical republic, despotism, feudalism, liberal democracy, and totalitarianism.~~

~~(2)~~(1) History. The student understands how constitutional government, as developed in the United States, America and expressed in the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the U.S. Constitution, has been influenced by people, ideas, people, and historical documents. The student is expected to:

- (A) explain major political ideas in history, including the laws of nature and nature's God, unalienable rights natural law, natural rights, divine right of kings, social contract theory, and the rights of resistance to illegitimate government;

 - ~~(C) describe the processes of modeling/imitation and vicarious reinforcement using typical classroom situations; and~~
 - ~~(D) describe and explain self-esteem, self-efficacy, and expectancy from the perspective of attribution theory.~~
- ~~(5)~~(3) Science of psychology. ~~The individual in society~~. The student understands the relationship between biology and behavior. The student is expected to:

- (A) describe the anatomy ~~and localized function of given brain areas~~ of the central and peripheral nervous systems and the endocrine system; and
 - (B) explain the effects of the endocrine and nervous systems on development and behavior.
- ~~(4) — The individual in society. The student understands the influence of sensory perceptions on the shaping of individual beliefs and attitudes. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) — relate sensation and perception to various points of view; and~~
 - ~~(B) — define and give examples of bias related to various points of view.~~
- (4) Science of psychology. The student understands how sensations and perceptions influence cognition and behavior. The student is expected to:
- (A) explain the capabilities and limitations of sensory systems and individual perceptions; and
 - (B) understand the interaction of the individual and the environment in determining sensation and perception.
- (5) Individual development. The student understands that development is a life-long process. The student is expected to:
- (A) critique the various perspectives presented in the nature versus nurture debate;
 - (B) trace the influence of physical development on the individual;
 - (C) discuss the role of the caregiver on individual development;
 - (D) explain factors involved in cognitive development according to Piaget;
 - (E) describe Erickson's stages of psychosocial development;
 - (F) evaluate the predicted outcomes of given courses of actions in particular situations based on an understanding of the development of morality; and
 - (G) evaluate the presented theories of human development and specify the strengths and weaknesses of each.
- (6) Individual development. The student understands behavioral and social learning theories. The student is expected to:
- (A) demonstrate an understanding of the principles of operant and classical conditioning and of social learning; and
 - (B) describe the processes of learning using typical classroom situations.
- (7) Individual identity. The student understands the principles of motivation and emotion. The student is expected to:
- (A) compare predominant theories of motivation and emotion; and
 - (B) explore the interaction of biological and cultural factors in emotion and motivation.
- (8) Individual identity. The student understands the nature of intelligence. The student is expected to differentiate the various types of intelligence.
- ~~(9) — Culture. The student understands the dynamic relationships between self and one's environment. The student is expected to:~~

- ~~(A) — describe and explain learning as an adaptation to the environment;~~
- ~~(B) — relate cultural perspectives to the traditional physical environment of the culture group; and~~
- ~~(C) — explain types of relationships of individuals with other individuals and with groups.~~
- ~~(6)~~(9) Individual identity. The individual in society. The student understands the basic principles of tests and measurements. The student is expected to:
 - ~~(A) — describe statistical concepts used in testing~~ define and differentiate reliability and validity; and
 - ~~(B) — define the concept of "transformed score" and give examples of various types including percentile grade equivalent scores, intelligence quotient (IQ) scores, and College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) scores such as Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and Graduate Record Examination (GRE).~~
 - (B) — differentiate among aptitude, achievement, and Intelligence Quotient (IQ) tests.
- ~~(10) — Culture. The student understands behavioral, social, and cognitive perspectives of human learning. The student is expected to:~~
 - ~~(A) — identify related antecedents, behavior, and consequences in a provided behavioral situation;~~
 - ~~(B) — identify elements of social learning theory in modern advertising;~~
 - ~~(C) — describe the relationship between components of the structural information processing model; and~~
 - ~~(D) — evaluate the various perspectives of human learning and specify the strengths and weaknesses of each.~~
- (10) — Individual identity. The student understands the development and assessment of personality. The student is expected to:
 - (A) — define personality;
 - (B) — compare and evaluate various theories of personality, including psychodynamic, trait, humanistic and sociocultural; and
 - (C) — describe personality assessment tools.
- ~~(11) — Culture. The student understands the role of culture in forming the foundation and orienting framework for individuals and social behavior. The student is expected to:~~
 - ~~(A) — explain factors involved in cognitive development according to Piaget;~~
 - ~~(B) — define common psychological disorders;~~
 - ~~(C) — describe Erickson's stages of psychosocial development; and~~
 - ~~(D) — determine cultural influences such as fads or peers on one's own social behavior.~~
- (11) — Individual experience. The student understands basic elements of cognition. The student is expected to:
 - (A) — define and identify the basic elements of thought;

- (B) identify strategies and obstacles associated with problem solving and decision making;
 - (C) explore the structural features of language;
 - (D) discuss theories of language acquisition and development;
 - (E) evaluate the limitations and capabilities of the information processing model; and
 - (F) understand the states and levels of consciousness.
- ~~(12) Culture. The student understands personality development theories, including the applications and limitations. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) give examples of growth and development based on social learning, behavioral, and cognitive theories; and~~
 - ~~(B) evaluate the presented theories of human development and specify the strengths and weaknesses of each.~~
- (12) Individual experience. The student understands the multifaceted aspects of mental health. The student is expected to:

 - (E) discuss the nature of altruism;
 - (F) discuss the factors influencing attraction; and
 - (G) identify sources of attitude formation and assess methods used to influence attitudes.
- ~~(13)~~ (14) Social studies skills. The student applies critical-thinking skills to organize and use information acquired from a variety of valid sources, including electronic technology. The student is expected to:
- (A) create a product on a contemporary psychology-related issue or topic using critical methods of inquiry;

- (B) draw and evaluate conclusions from qualitative information;
- ~~(C) define and compute measures of central tendency (mean, median, and mode) and dispersion (range and standard deviation);~~
- (C) apply evaluation rules to quantitative information; and
- ~~(D) explain and illustrate cautions related to interpreting statistics in news stories;~~
- ~~(E) apply evaluation rules to quantitative information; and~~
- ~~(F)~~(D) analyze information by sequencing, categorizing, identifying cause-and-effect relationships, comparing, contrasting, finding the main idea, summarizing, making generalizations and predictions, and drawing inferences and conclusions.

- (A) use psychology-related terminology correctly;
- (B) use standard grammar, spelling, sentence structure, and punctuation;
- (C) transfer information from one medium to another, including written to visual and written or visual to statistical, using computer software as appropriate; and
- (D) create written, oral, and visual presentations of social studies information.

~~(15)~~(16) Social studies skills. The student uses problem-solving and decision-making skills, working independently and with others, in a variety of settings. The student is expected to:

- (A) use a problem-solving process to identify a problem, gather information, list and consider options, consider advantages and disadvantages, choose and implement a solution, and evaluate the effectiveness of the solution;
- (B) use a decision-making process to identify a situation that requires a decision, gather information, identify options, predict consequences, and take action to implement a decision; and
- (C) participate in conflict resolution using persuasion, compromise, debate, and negotiation.

~~(16)~~(17) Social studies skills. The student develops long-term and short-term goal-setting skills for individual and community problem solving. The student is expected to:

- (A) illustrate the relationship and sequence between intermediate goals and terminal goals; and
- (B) monitor and evaluate self-directed inquiry or projects for timelines, accuracy, and goal attainment.

~~(17) Science and technology. The student understands the implication of technology for the collection, storage, and use of psychological data. The student is expected to:~~

- ~~(A) apply the standards of the American Psychological Association for ethical decision making regarding the collection, storage, and use of psychological data; and~~
- ~~(B) acquire information through the use of electronic sources.~~

(18) Science and technology. The student understands the relationship of changes in technology to personal growth and development. The student is expected to:

- (A) analyze examples of attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors related to changes in available technology; and
- (B) evaluate the impact of changes in technology on personal growth and development.

 - (C) analyze the characteristics of late adulthood and changes on the individual and society such as retirement, physical and mental functioning, dependency on others, and death.
- (9) Individual and society. The student will explain the nature and social function of deviance. The student is expected to:
- (A) compare theories of deviance such as the functionalist, conflict, and interactionist perspectives;
 - (B) interpret differences in crime and arrest rates by social categories such as ethnicity, gender, socioeconomic status, and age , including cross-reference with the National Crime Victimization Survey ; and
 - (C) analyze the criminal justice system in the United States in relation to deviant behavior.
- (10) Social inequality. The student understands the nature of social stratification in society. The student is expected to:
- (A) analyze the characteristics and components of caste and class systems and social mobility and how motivation affects each;

- (B) define poverty and its components and analyze poverty's impact on the individual and society;
 - (C) contrast theories of social stratification; and
 - (D) recognize and examine global stratification and inequality.
- ~~(11) — History. The student understands basic sociological principles related to change within a group and across groups. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) — relate theories of change to major changes in U.S. public policy such as the origins and consequences of the civil rights movement; and~~
 - ~~(B) — analyze social change and resulting social problems within and across groups.~~
- (11) Social inequality. The student understands the impact of race and ethnicity on society. The student is expected to:
- (A) define race and ethnicity and differentiate among the distinguishing characteristics of minority groups;
 - (B) contrast the terms discrimination, prejudice, and bias;
 - (C) discuss the ramifications of stereotyping;
 - (D) analyze the varying treatment patterns of minority groups such as African American, Asian American, Hispanic American, and Native American; and
 - (E) explain how institutional racism is evident in American society.
- ~~(12) — Culture. The student understands how cultural socialization, norms, values, motivation, and communication influence relationships among groups. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) — compare cultural norms among various U.S. subculture groups such as ethnic, national origin, age, socioeconomic strata, and gender groups;~~
 - ~~(B) — describe stereotypes of the various U.S. subcultures; and~~
 - ~~(C) — analyze social problems in selected U.S. subcultures.~~
- (12) Social inequality. The student understands changing societal views on gender, age, and health. The student is expected to:
- (A) — differentiate between sex and gender as social constructs and determine how gender and socialization interact;
 - (B)(A) analyze how gender roles affect the opportunities available to men and women in society;
 - (C)(B) analyze the effects of an aging society;
 - (D)(C) compare the nature of health care in a global society; and
 - (E)(D) evaluate the nature of health care in different segments of American society.
- ~~(13) — Culture. The student understands how people develop social institutions to meet basic needs in a society. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) — summarize the functions of social institutions such as the family, religion, and education; and~~

- ~~(B) — evaluate the importance of social institutions in the United States.~~
- (13) Social institutions. The student identifies the basic social institution of the family and explains its influences on society. The student is expected to:
- (A) define the functions and rituals of the family and how the family has changed over time;
 - (B) define family systems and patterns;
 - (C) analyze the trends in American society regarding family life and the needs that the institution of family satisfies; and
 - (D) analyze ways in which family life can be disrupted.
- (14) Social institutions. The student identifies the basic social institutions of economics and politics and explains their influence on society. The student is expected to:
- (A) define and differentiate between the economic models of free enterprise (capitalism, free market) and socialism and how they impact society;

 - (C) trace the changes in ideas about citizenship and participation of different groups through time.
- (15) Social institutions. The student identifies the basic social institutions of education and religion and explains their influence on society. The student is expected to:
- (A) explain functionalist, conflict, and interactionist theories of education;
 - (B) argue and defend some current issues in American education;
 - (C) examine religion from the sociological point of view;
 - (D) analyze the functions of society and the basic societal needs that religion serves; and
 - (E) compare and contrast distinctive features of religion in the United States with religion in other societies.
- (16) Social institutions. The student understands the basic social institutions of science and the mass media and their influence on society. The student is expected to:
- (A) identify factors that have contributed to the institutionalization of science, explain the norms of scientific research, and explain how these norms differ from the realities of scientific research;
 - (B) trace major developments in the history of mass media and identify the types of mass media in the United States;
 - (C) explain the differences between the functionalist and conflict perspectives of mass media; and
 - (D) examine contemporary mass media issues.
- ~~(17) — Science, technology, and society. The student understands the impact of scientific discoveries and technological innovations on individuals and societies. The student is expected to:~~

- ~~(A) —analyze how individual and societal behavior has changed as a result of scientific discoveries and technological innovations; and~~
- ~~(B) —predict societal changes resulting from innovations in science and technology.~~
- (17) Changing world. The student understands how population and urbanization contribute to a changing social world. The student is expected to:
 - (A) describe the study of demography, the basic demographic concepts, and changes in settlement patterns on society; and
 - (B) explain and critique various theories of population growth and its impact on society.
- ~~(18) Science, technology, and society. The student understands the impact of changes in science and technology on moral and ethical issues. The student is expected to:~~
 - ~~(A) —analyze how the norms and behaviors of a selected U.S. subculture group have changed as a result of changes in science and technology; and~~
 - ~~(B) —evaluate a current ethical issue that has resulted from scientific discoveries and/or technological innovations.~~
- (18) Changing world. The student understands how collective behavior, social movements, and modernization contribute to a changing social world. The student is expected to:
 - (A) compare and contrast various types of collective behavior and social movements and how they affect society;
 - (B) discuss theories that have been developed to explain collective behavior and social movements; and
 - (C) illustrate three social processes that contribute to social change and discuss and evaluate how technology, population, natural environment, revolution, and war cause cultures to change.
- ~~(14)~~(19) Social studies skills. The student applies critical-thinking skills to organize and use information acquired from a variety of valid sources, including electronic technology. The student is expected to:
 - (A) create a product on a contemporary sociological issue or topic using critical methods of inquiry;
 - (B) analyze information by sequencing, categorizing, identifying cause-and-effect relationships, comparing, contrasting, finding the main idea, summarizing, making generalizations and predictions, and drawing inferences and conclusions; and
 - (C) use appropriate mathematical skills to interpret sociological information.
- ~~(15)~~(20) Social studies skills. The student communicates in written, oral, and visual forms. The student is expected to:
 - (A) use sociology-related terminology correctly;
 - (B) use standard grammar, spelling, sentence structure, and punctuation;
 - (C) transfer information from one medium to another, including written to visual and written or visual to statistical, using computer software as appropriate; and

- (D) create written, oral, and visual presentations of social studies information.
- (16)(21) Social studies skills. The student uses problem-solving and decision-making skills, working independently and with others, in a variety of settings. The student is expected to:
 - (A) use a problem-solving process to identify a problem, gather information, list and consider options, consider advantages and disadvantages, choose and implement a solution, and evaluate the effectiveness of the solution;
 - (B) use a decision-making process to identify a situation that requires a decision, gather information, identify options, predict consequences, and take action to implement a decision; and
 - (C) participate in conflict resolution using persuasion, compromise, debate, and negotiation.

§113.3847. Special Topics in Social Studies (One-Half Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one-half unit of credit for successful completion of this course. Students may take this course with different course content for a maximum of two credits.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In Special Topics in Social Studies, an elective course, ~~comparable to the former Advanced Social Science Problems~~, students are provided the opportunity to ~~apply the knowledge and skills of the social sciences to a variety of topics and issues.~~ develop a greater understanding of the historic, political, economic, geographic, multicultural, and social forces that have shaped their lives and the world in which they live. Students use critical-thinking skills to locate, organize, analyze, and use data collected from a variety of sources. Problem solving and decision making are important elements of the course as is the communication of information in written, oral, and visual forms. Students will use social science knowledge and skills to engage in rational and logical analysis of complex problems using a variety of approaches, while recognizing and appreciating diverse human perspectives.
 - (2) Statements that contain the word “including” reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase “such as” are intended as possible illustrative examples.
 - (3) State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances, including Celebrate Freedom Week.
 - (A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under the Texas Education Code, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women’s suffrage movement.
 - (B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: “We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed.”
- (c) Knowledge and skills.
 - ~~(3)~~(1) Social studies skills. The student uses problem-solving and decision-making skills, working independently and with others, in a variety of settings. The student is expected to:

- (A) apply social studies methodologies encompassing a variety of research and analytical tools to explore questions or issues thoroughly and fairly to include multiple perspectives;
- (B) evaluate effects of major political, economic, and social conditions on selected social studies topic;
- (C) appraise a geographic perspective that considers physical and cultural processes as they affect the selected topic;
- (D) examine the role of diverse communities in the context of the selected topic;
- (E) analyze ethical issues raised by the selected topic in historic, cultural, and social contexts;
- ~~(A)~~(F) depending on the topic, use a problem-solving process to identify a problem, gather information, list and consider options, consider advantages and disadvantages, choose and implement a solution, and evaluate the effectiveness of the solution; and
- ~~(B)~~(G) depending on the topic, use a decision-making process to identify a situation that requires a decision, gather information, identify options, predict consequences, and take action to implement a decision.
- ~~(1)~~(2) Social studies skills. The student applies critical-thinking skills to organize and use information acquired from a variety of valid sources, including electronic technology. The student is expected to:
 - (A) locate, analyze, organize, synthesize, evaluate, and apply information about selected topic, identifying, describing, and evaluating multiple points of view;
 - ~~(A)~~(B) differentiate between ~~locate, and use~~ valid primary and secondary sources and use them appropriately to conduct research and construct arguments ~~such as computer software, databases, media and news services, biographies, interviews, and artifacts to acquire information about a selected topic in social studies;~~
 - (C) read narrative texts critically and identify points of view from the historical context surrounding an event and the frame of reference that influenced the participants;
 - ~~(D) — support a point of view on a social studies issue or event;~~
 - ~~(B)~~(D) analyze information by sequencing, categorizing, identifying cause-and-effect relationships, comparing, contrasting, finding the main idea, summarizing, making generalizations and predictions, and drawing inferences and conclusions;
 - (E) collect visual images (photographs, paintings, political cartoons, and other media) to enhance understanding and appreciation of multiple perspectives in a social studies topic;
 - ~~(E)~~(F) identify bias in written, oral, and visual material;
 - ~~(F)~~(G) evaluate the validity of a source based on language, corroboration with other sources, and information about the author; and
 - ~~(G)~~(H) use appropriate mathematical skills to interpret social studies information such as maps and graphs.

~~(2)~~(3) Social studies skills. The student creates ~~communicates in~~ written, oral, and visual ~~forms~~ presentations of social studies information. The student is expected to:

- (A) apply the conventions of usage and mechanics of written English;
- ~~(A)~~(B) use social studies terminology correctly;
- ~~(B) use standard grammar, spelling, sentence structure, and punctuation;~~
- ~~(C) transfer information from one medium to another, including written to visual and statistical to written or visual, using computer software as appropriate; and~~
- (C) use appropriate oral communication techniques;
- ~~(D) create written, oral, and visual presentations of social studies information;~~
- (D) construct a thesis that is supported by evidence;
- (E) recognize and evaluate counter arguments;
- (F) use visual images (photographs, paintings, and other media) to facilitate understanding and appreciation of multiple perspectives in a social studies topic;
- (G) develop a bibliography with ideas and information attributed to source materials and authors using accepted social sciences formats such as Modern Language Association (MLA) and Chicago Manual of Style (CMS) to document sources and format written materials; and
- (H) use computer software to create written, graphic, or visual products from collected data.

§113.3948. Social Studies Research Methods (One-Half Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. Students shall be awarded one-half unit of credit for successful completion of this course. Students may take this course with different course content for a maximum of two credits.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In Social Studies Research Methods, an elective course, students conduct advanced research on a selected topic in social studies using qualitative and/or quantitative methods of inquiry. Students present their research results and conclusions in written and visual or oral format. The course is designed to be conducted in either classroom or independent settings.
 - (2) Statements that contain the word “including” reference content that must be mastered, while those containing the phrase “such as” are intended as possible illustrative examples.
 - (3) State and federal laws mandate a variety of celebrations and observances, including Celebrate Freedom Week.
 - (A) Each social studies class shall include, during Celebrate Freedom Week as provided under the Texas Education Code, §29.907, or during another full school week as determined by the board of trustees of a school district, appropriate instruction concerning the intent, meaning, and importance of the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution, including the Bill of Rights, in their historical contexts. The study of the Declaration of Independence must include the study of the relationship of the ideas expressed in that document to subsequent American history, including the relationship of its ideas to the rich diversity of our people as a nation of immigrants, the American Revolution, the formulation of the U.S. Constitution, and the abolitionist movement, which led to the Emancipation Proclamation and the women’s suffrage movement.
 - (B) Each school district shall require that, during Celebrate Freedom Week or other week of instruction prescribed under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, students in Grades 3-12 study and recite the following text: “We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness--That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed.”
- (c) Knowledge and skills.
 - ~~(1) Social studies skills. The student understands the basic philosophical foundation for qualitative and quantitative methods of inquiry. The student is expected to:~~
 - ~~(A) develop and use criteria for the evaluation of qualitative and quantitative information;~~
 - ~~(B) generate logical and consistent conclusions from given qualitative and quantitative information; and~~
 - ~~(C) design a research project with a rationale for a given research method.~~

- ~~(2)~~(1) Social studies skills. The student understands the need for an organizing framework to identify ~~a problem or~~ an area of interest and collect information. The student is expected to:
- (A) select ~~an~~ a social studies issue, ~~problem, topic,~~ or area of interest; ~~write a rationale and preliminary ideas for research methods; and develop a bibliography; and~~
 - ~~(B) — apply a process approach to a research problem.~~
 - (B) write a rationale and preliminary ideas for research methods;
 - (C) develop a literature review; and
 - (D) develop a thesis.
- (2) Social studies skills. The student applies a process approach to a research topic, applying the ideas, theories, and modes of inquiry drawn from the social sciences in the examination of persistent issues and social questions. The student is expected to:
- (A) understand the basic requirements and philosophical foundations for qualitative and quantitative methods of inquiry, including inductive and deductive reasoning, to determine the most effective research approach from a variety of alternatives;
 - (B) select and design a research project, including an examination of the theory and methods applicable to the research topic;
 - (C) collect information from a variety of sources (primary, secondary, written, and oral) using techniques such as questionnaires, interviews, and library research;
 - (D) use current technology such as library topic catalogues, networks, online information systems, academic journals, primary sources on the Internet, email interviews, and video interviews to collect information about the selected topic;
 - (E) use information from sources that take into account multiple perspectives;
 - (F) differentiate between primary and secondary sources and use each appropriately to conduct research and construct arguments;
 - (G) develop and use criteria for the evaluation of qualitative and/or quantitative information;
 - (H) describe the results of the research process;
 - (I) generate logical conclusions from research results;
 - (J) justify a conclusion with supporting evidence;
 - (K) make predictions as to future actions and/or outcomes based on conclusions of research; and
 - (L) develop a bibliography in a format appropriate to the social sciences such as Modern Language Association (MLA) and Chicago Manual of Style (CMS) to document sources and format written materials.
- ~~(3) — Social studies skills. The student understands the fundamental principles and requirements of validity and reliability (both social science and historical fields of inquiry). The student is expected to:~~

- ~~(A) —define and differentiate reliability and validity;~~
- ~~(B) —identify methods of checking for reliability; and~~
- ~~(C) —evaluate various sources for reliability and validity and justify the conclusions.~~
- (3) Social studies skills. If doing qualitative research, the student employs the processes of critical social science inquiry to understand an issue, topic, or area of interest using a variety of sources, checking their credibility, validating and weighing evidence for claims, and searching for causality. The student is expected to:
 - (A) interpret the historiography of the research topic;
 - (B) apply key social science concepts such as time, chronology, causality, change, conflict, and complexity to explain, analyze, and show connections among patterns of historical change and continuity;
 - (C) investigate, interpret, and analyze multiple historical and contemporary viewpoints within and across cultures;
 - (D) relate important events, recurring dilemmas, and persistent issues to topic; and
 - (E) employ empathy, skepticism, and critical judgment to analysis of topic.
- ~~(4) Social studies skills. The student understands how data can be collected from a variety of sources using a variety of methods. The student is expected to:~~
 - ~~(A) —collect information from a variety of sources (primary, secondary, written, and oral) using techniques such as questionnaires, interviews, and library research; and~~
 - ~~(B) —use various technology such as CD-ROM, library topic catalogues, networks, and on-line information systems to collect information about a selected topic.~~
- (4) Social studies skills. If doing quantitative research, the student is expected to:
 - (A) apply the scientific method in a research project;
 - (B) create a matrix applying research methodologies that employ survey research, ethnography, primary documents, and statistical analysis to given subject areas;
 - (C) determine the most efficient research approach;
 - (D) utilize basic statistical approaches and tools in the analysis of aggregate information;
 - (E) define and compute statistical information using various statistical approaches such as means testing and correlation, measures of central tendency and distribution, the development of categorical systems, and logical analysis;
 - (F) analyze information using a spreadsheet or statistical analysis information software;
 - (G) apply the fundamental principles and requirements of validity and reliability as used in the social sciences;
 - (H) interpret patterns of behavior reflecting attitudes and values that contribute or pose obstacles to cross-cultural understanding; and
 - (I) utilize applicable ethical standards in collecting, storing, and using human experimental or survey data.

- ~~(5) Social studies skills. The student understands the use of theory and research for descriptive and predictive purposes. The student is expected to:~~
- ~~(A) describe the results of a research process; and~~
 - ~~(B) make predictions as to future actions and/or outcomes based on conclusions of research.~~
- (5) Social studies skills. The student creates a written and oral presentation of research and conclusions. The student is expected to:
- (A) apply the conventions of usage and mechanics of written English;
 - (B) present thesis and conclusion;
 - (C) use appropriate social science terminology;
 - (D) justify conclusion with supporting evidence and address counter arguments as appropriate;
 - (E) construct visuals such as statistical compilations, charts, graphs, tables, timelines, and maps to convey appropriate data;
 - (F) create a presentation on a selected topic using word-processing, graphics, and multimedia software;
 - (G) incorporate and present visual images (photographs, paintings, and other media) to enhance presentation; and
 - (H) develop a bibliography with ideas and information attributed to source materials and authors using accepted social sciences formats such as Modern Language Association (MLA) and Chicago Manual of Style (CMS) to document sources and format written materials.
- (6) Social studies skills. The student understands the principles and requirements of the scientific method. The student is expected to:
- ~~(A) apply the scientific method in a research project;~~
 - ~~(B) create a matrix relating various research methodologies such as survey research, ethnography, primary documents, and statistical analysis to given subject areas; and~~
 - ~~(C) determine the most efficient research approach from a variety of alternatives using a cost-benefit analysis.~~
 - (A) select a social studies issue, topic, or area of interest;
 - (B) select and design a research project, including an examination of the theory and methods applicable to the research topic;
 - (C) describe the results of the research process; and
 - (D) justify conclusion with supporting evidence and make predictions as to future actions and/or outcomes based on conclusions of research.
- ~~(7) Social studies skills. The student understands basic statistical approaches to the analysis of aggregate information. The student is expected to:~~

- (A) ~~define and compute statistical information using various statistical approaches such as means testing and correlation, measures of central tendency and distribution, the development of categorical systems, and logical analysis; and~~
- (B) ~~analyze information using a spreadsheet or statistical analysis information software.~~
- (8) ~~Social studies skills. The student understands the requirements of graphic displays of data. The student is expected to:~~
 - (A) ~~construct visuals such as charts, graphs, tables, time lines, and maps to convey appropriate data; and~~
 - (B) ~~create a presentation on a selected topic using word processing, graphics, and multimedia software.~~
- (9) ~~Social studies skills. The student understands the basic principles of historic analysis. The student is expected to:~~
 - (A) ~~differentiate between primary and secondary sources and describe the best uses for each;~~
 - (B) ~~construct and test cause and effect hypotheses and compare them with correlational analyses; and~~
 - (C) ~~select the appropriate use of chronological relationships in historiography.~~
- (10) ~~Social studies skills. The student understands the ethical aspects of collecting, storing, and using data. The student is expected to:~~
 - (A) ~~describe breaches of ethical standards for handling human experimental or survey information in a given scenario; and~~
 - (B) ~~evaluate the relationship among copyright laws, proper citation requirements, and ethical ways of collecting and presenting information.~~

Proposed Revisions to 19 TAC Chapter 118,
Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills for
Economics with Emphasis on the Free Enterprise System and Its Benefits, Subchapter A, High School

§118.42. Economics with Emphasis on the Free Enterprise System and Its Benefits, High School (One-Half Credit), Beginning with School Year 2011-2012.

- (a) General requirements. This course ~~may be~~ will be taught in ~~either~~ the social studies ~~or business education~~ department and is recommended to be taught in Grade 12.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) Economics with Emphasis on the Free Enterprise System and Its Benefits is the culmination of the economic content and concepts studied from Kindergarten through required secondary courses. The focus is on the basic principles concerning production, consumption, and distribution of goods and services (the problem of scarcity) in the United States and a comparison with those in other countries around the world. ~~Students examine the rights and responsibilities of consumers and businesses.~~ Students analyze the interaction of supply, demand, and price ~~and study the role of financial institutions in a free enterprise system.~~ Students will investigate the concepts of specialization and international trade, economic growth, key economic measurements, and monetary and fiscal policy.
